

Best- and Worst-Dressed at the Teen Choice Awards

See whose style flourished (Taylor Swift! Selena Gomez!) and whose flopped (Demi Lovato!) at the fun-filled event. BY CRISTINA M. DE OLIVEIRA

Best: Taylor Swift

Taylor Swift pulled off a flawless summer-loving look in a bright white, Grecian-inspired Maria Lucia Hohan chiffon dress. Swift's romantic updo allowed her stunning backless dress to shine while the blonde beauty's cream-colored peep-toe heels elongated her already-long legs. Not only did she score a winning look, but she also picked up five awards, making her the night's most celebrated star.

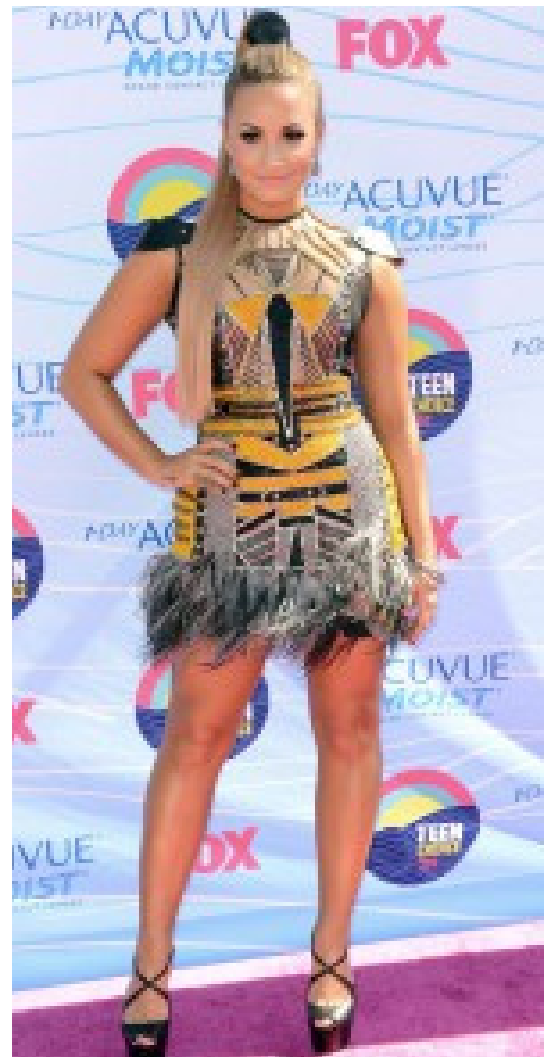

Best: Selena Gomez

Selena Gomez was pretty in pink in a Dsquared2 magenta mini and classic cream-colored Herve Leger heels. Sunday was a big night for her as she said goodbye to her teen years – she turned 20 on July 22! – and hello to a new surfboard for her trophy collection. Gomez picked up the award for choice music group for her band Selena Gomez & The Scene.

Worst: Zoey Deschanel

While the color of Zoey Deschanel's cobalt blue party dress is bright and beautiful, the frock's silhouette is a little boring – especially for a fun, laid-back event such as the Teen Choice Awards. The newly crowned Emmy nominee's choice of black pumps also weighs down the outfit, which could have been jazzed up with some strappy sandals – after all, it's summer!

Worst: Demi Lovato

Less is more! Demi Lovato took a risk with a feathered, fashion-forward pick, which could have paid off if she would have toned down her styling. The beaded and sequined mini allowed the night's cohost to show off her toned legs, but her sky-high genie ponytail, down-to-there hair extensions, heavy eye makeup and blinged-out jewelry took her look over the edge.

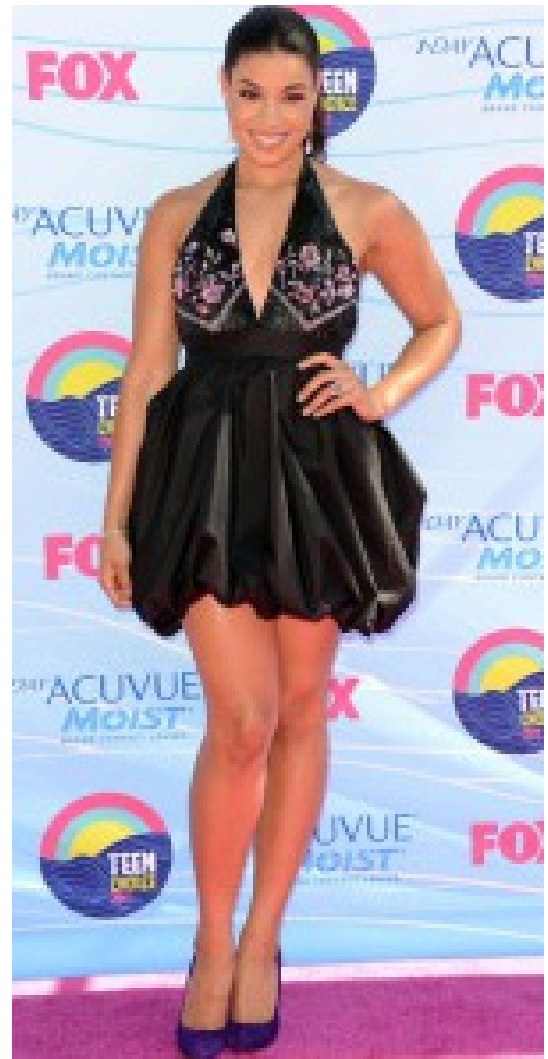

Best: Lea Michele

Being in love is working well for Lea Michele, who glowed at the Teen Choice Awards. The Glee star – who is dating costar Cory Monteith – left her beachy waves loose, as she showed off her sun-kissed skin in a silver corseted Atelier Versace floral minidress.

Best: Nikki Reed

Nikki Reed's black-and-blue look was certainly not a sore spot on the pink carpet. The Twilight star showed off her sophisticated style in a corset top and skirt by Contrarian New York, which she paired with neutral Brian Atwood pumps.

Worst: Jordin Sparks

Jordin Sparks has a hot slimmed down body that she is showing off on the August cover of Shape – we wish she would have dressed for her new figure at the Teen Choice Awards! Her voluminous bubble skirt added weight to her bottom half and the embellished halter top was more showgirl than showstopper.

Worst: Portia de Rossi

Portia de Rossi is no stranger to awards shows – she should know how to dress for an event by now! Portia missed the mark with her casual black-on-black shorts outfit with a sheer blouse, which would have been better suited for brunch versus an awards show.

Best: Nina Dobrev

The lady is a vamp! Nina Dobrev – who picked up a surfboard for choice TV actress in a sci-fi/fantasy for her role on The Vampire Diaries – dazzled in a turquoise J. Mendel asymmetrical dress, which complemented her olive skintone. Between Dobrev's gold strappy stilettos and a thigh-high slit, her gorgeous gams were on display as she walked the pink carpet.

Worst: Carly Rae Jepsen

Sorry, Carly Rae Jepsen – we also love palm trees, but they should probably stay on the beach. The "Call Me Maybe" singer donned a palm-printed blazer and shorts suit by Lisa Ho, which was too buttoned up and made the star seem older than her 26 years.

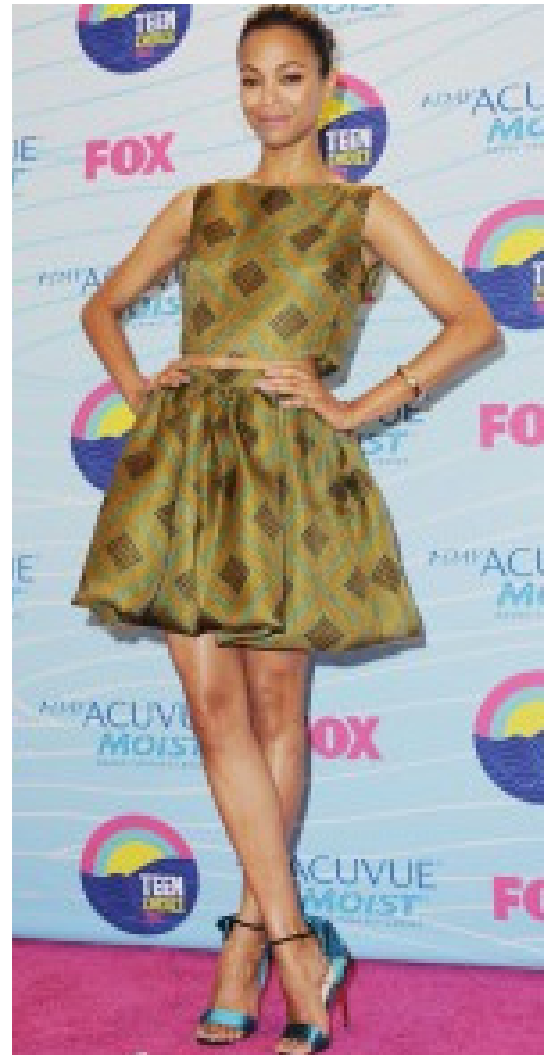

Best: Hayden Panettiere

Hayden Panettiere sparkled on the pink carpet in a purple body-skimming Zuhair Murad dress. The glittering frock had sequins in all the right places, which gave the dress dazzling movement and the petite star the illusion of being curvier than she is.

Best: Kylie Jenner

The youngest of the Kardashian-Jenner clan, Kylie Jenner has learned a thing or two from her older sisters about making an entrance at awards shows — and about rocking massive hair extensions. The 14-year-old reality star strutted her stuff in a burgundy mini with side cutouts and a flouncy skirt.

Worst: Zoe Saldana

Zoe Saldana might be one of the sexiest actresses in Hollywood, but this green-and-gold ensemble doesn't help her show it! The actress bared her midriff in a funky top and bubble skirt, combining a dull color palette with clashing electric-blue heels. Saldana is normally a fashion-forward star, but this look comes up short.
